

You rely on technology:

- ➔ to conduct product and market research
- ➔ to develop business and action plans
- ➔ to manage everything in your business, from client service and operations and to marketing, sales, and accounting

Whatever applications you use, your technology infrastructure has to be robust, reliable, efficient, and secure - all cost-effectively.

Unicom can manage your computers, email, networks, phones, and wireless devices to keep your capabilities, systems, and equipment working like new, empowering you to be a superstar in your markets and giving you exceptional return on your technology investment.

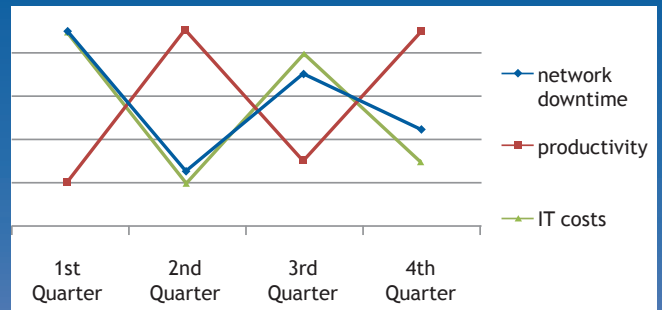

Using its Executive Solution, Unicom will monitor your networks 24/7, catching and fixing threats long before they cause your systems to slow down or go down.

Unicom also will keep your systems working at their best by managing the installation of updates and new program versions (patches) properly, consistently, and in a timely way.

Bottom line:

You'll get the best value from your technology investment, you'll always have the capabilities you need, you can stop wasting time dealing with computer problems, and you can truly use technology to reach your business goals.
